

We invite you to
The (Sound) of Mushrooms

3 July at Marres Garden

Join us from 13:00-15:00 for an immersive senses-based learning experience that reconnects us to nature through the captivating world of data sonification. Using Plantwave devices, the conductive fluctuations of mushrooms are transformed into music which we will be immersed in. Let us find the time and space for conversations about senses-based learning, the life cycle of mushroom, their implications in sustainability, and the mycelial network that connects us all.
